IN SERIES SPONSORED
UNDER $5,490 MCH GRANT

MISSOULA --

"Is Gambling a Moral Issue?" will be the topic of a panel discussion at 7:30 p.m. Sunday (Jan. 20) in the First United Methodist Church, 300 E. Main St., Missoula.

Sunday's program, which is open to the public without charge, is the first in a series of public forums to be presented by the Montana Forum on Church and State, a Missoula-based group, under a $5,490 grant from the Montana Committee for the Humanities (MCH). Theme of the series is "Should Religious Values Influence Politics?"

Bruce R. Sievers, MCH director, who has offices at the University of Montana in Missoula, said other topics in the series will be discussed in Missoula at dates to be announced.

Panelists Sunday will be Missoula attorney Bob Campbell, a Constitutional Convention delegate who was a member of the Bill of Rights Committee; State Rep. Bill Norman, D-Missoula; Mrs. Katie Payne, justice of the peace designate in the Garden City, and Dr. Richard Vandiver, assistant professor of sociology at the University of Montana. Howard Schwartz, Missoula, will be panel moderator.

Sievers said other programs in the series will include "The Church and the State: Friends, Foes or What?"; "Do Churches Free or Oppress Women?"; "Abortion: Should Either Churches or the State Have a Role?"; "Does Political Morality Have a Religious Basis?"; "Amnesty for Whom: What is Just, What is Merciful?"; "Religion in Relation to Environmental Policies," and "Church and State in America: Has the Separation Been Fruitful?"
